BRADSON'S GLAD GARDENS

Keysville, Virginia

The enclosed list of Glads, many of which are quite recent introductions, have been grown by us with few exceptions several seasons in succession so that we believe them to be worthy of trial by glad fanciers and other growers who have not as yet acquired them.

While we ourselves are not able to be among those real pioneers in the glad field who spend lots of money for high priced varieties when they are first introduced, we do give much of our time and attention testing out the comparatively new ones which show promise of being worth while. If a variety does not click for us it "goes over the fence" and thereafter it is a closed chapter so far as we are concerned. Glad fans everywhere owe the really front rank fanciers a debt of gratitude. We take pleasure here and now in expressing our own.

Our list is hastily prepared at a time when digging is about half over. In some instances we can only anticipate what stock we will have to offer of certain varieties, but judging from results so far we are going to be able to supply any reasonable demand.

In such a large list, sent chiefly to growers who already have information available as to descriptions, we do not have space here to go into details. Where we do make some special comments it is only because of observations which we have failed to see elsewhere.

We are all aware of a vacuous feeling when we undertake to describe from an inadequate vocabulary the ethereal beauty and charm of a flower which has something more than blend of colors. Take for instance Picardy with its soft shimmering sheen, or the rich translucency of Gunvor, the concordant blend of colors which contain within themselves the elements of light and shade found in Sweetheart and "the boy friend," M. Guthbertson. And what do we perceive in the usual color description of Mother Macree? We think the fellow who first associated the atmospheric sunset tints with this fine flower, while a bit fanciful, gave a more comprehensive description than the one who spoke of it as vinaceous. He, perhaps, had had a vinaceous nip and was seeing things when he first beheld its beauty.

So we make no apology for our own descriptions and admit they are quite inadequate.

As to prices, we have tried to be kind to the pocketbook. Shop around if you will and see how well we have succeeded. We also try to be liberal in our count and extras.

We have omitted from this fall list a lot of the old "stand-bys" which will appear in our spring list. We grow these in larger quantities and our prices are right. If interested in any of these at this time write us and we will give special quotations.

So far we have had no thrips, but continue to guard against an invasion by the use of naphthalene flakes on bulbs and spraying the plants with Rotatox.

PEARSON'S GILD GARDENS
LEWISVILLE, VIRGINIA
FALL 1935 PRICE LIST

We pay transportation charges on all orders amounting to $1.00 and over. If less than $1.00 add 15¢ for postage and packing. No single items accepted for less than 10¢.

The smallest quantity listed is the smallest quantity we will sell, for instance when the price is shown 2-10¢ it means we will sell two bulbs of that variety for 10¢ but not one bulb for 5¢.

The price of 10 bulbs of a variety is found by multiplying the price of one by 5 for instance, if the price of one is 10¢ the price for ten would be 50¢. Five bulbs will be sold at this same rate which in this case would be 40¢.

The same rule will apply when the price is, say, 2-10¢ simply by finding the key price for one (5¢) and multiplying by 5 for the price of ten, (10¢).

We are reserving all small sizes for planting stock except such varieties as Picardy and Bagdad. See our wholesale prices on these, also special offers of a few other varieties at the bottom of this list.

Orders received now will be held for spring shipment if requested. Terms, cash with order.
